Remarks:

John: Attached is the CIA-DIA accord on the production of regional studies on the Chinese ground forces. The consultation on methodology, terminology, and format mentioned in Para. 8 is well along, with Shenyang parameters providing the agreed bases. Of interest too, is that the NTP reporting format for Chinese ground force installations now undergoing revision will follow the Shenyang model.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Agreement Between OSR and DIAAP Regarding Production of Studies of Communist Chinese Military Regions

1. At a 15 July meeting attended by [redacted]

[redacted] OSR,
and appropriate members of their staffs, agreement in principle was reached on a joint program of regional studies as outlined in the following paragraphs.

2. A primary goal of the multilateral program of studies of Chinese military regions is to provide a new foundation of firm intelligence on the Chinese ground forces in time for the production of [redacted]

3. To do this it is necessary to perform intensive analysis on the majority of Communist Chinese military regions concurrently. This can be effectively done only by coordinated use of the capabilities of several intelligence production organizations. OSR has done a study on the Shenyang MR and further work is under way to analyze Shenyang units not covered in the published study. DIAAP has nearly completed work on armored and artillery units in two regions. The [redacted] is well started on a study of the Canton MR.

4. [redacted] is going to do at least the PI work on Tsinan (Chinan) military region. It was agreed that the [redacted] should be invited to participate in the program.

6. There was concurrence among the participants in the discussion that experience indicates that on the average about 18 months would be required to turn out a study and that the full time support of about 6 PIs and one project analyst is required for each regional study.

7. OSR offered to provide publication support for the joint studies. It was agreed that there will be no formal interagency coordination of the published studies but that there will be continuing close working-level collaboration. The published studies will have a page one footnote along the following lines: "This report was produced by DIA (or, CIA). It was prepared by the Directorate of Intelligence Production, DIA, (or, the Office of Strategic Research, CIA), in consultation with the Office of Strategic Research, CIA (or, the Directorate of Intelligence Production, DIA). It is published as part of a joint CIA-DIA study program on the Communist Chinese ground forces."

8. Continuing consultation will be maintained between the corresponding production elements of DIAAP and OSR to ensure a desirable degree of uniformity of methodology, terminology, and format.
